

Python – Poem

Purpose

This lab was designed to teach you how to output text to the console window and how to use escape sequences.

Description

Write a program that outputs a poem. The poem can be anything of your liking. Don't use this one. Add a comment at the top with your name and a description of the program.

Program Shell

Create a file called poem.py

Sample Execution

```
Haiku by Yosa Busun
```

```
Early summer rain-
houses facing the river,
two of them
```

```
Washing the hoe-
ripples on the water;
far off, wild ducks.

```
A summer river being crossed how pleasing
with sandals in my hands!
```

```
Straw sandal half sunk
in an old pond
```

in the sleety snow.

Calligraphy of geese

against the sky-

the moon seals it.

Light of the moon

Moves west, flowers' shadows

Creep eastward.

My arm for a pillow,

I really like myself

under the hazy moon.

Not quite dark yet

and the stars shining

above the withered fields.

In the moonlight,

The color and scent of the wisteria

Seems far away.

The end of spring--

the poet is brooding

about editors.

Blown from the west,
fallen leaves gather in the east.

Old well,
a fish leaps-
dark sound.
